ENGLISH DAY held on 3rd march 2018

Keeping in mind the pivotal role of inculcating the knowledge of mass media and being abreast with the current platforms available to simulcast oneself, an English Day was held. Various competitions were held to embolden the students to break off their routine shackles and be a part of the exclusive day.

Gone are the days of penning down thoughts from the deep recesses of the mind and safeguarding it on a mortal paper book. Immortality is the norm of the day. The gutsy unabashed new generation does not shy away to voice out their views. This as an agenda a Blog Creation competition was held.

Being a Commerce student doesn't make anyone a middling story teller. It's the creativity that counts. As a tribute to the women and society students revealed their talents by creating a Short Digital Film on 'women empowerment'. (in collaboration with the Students Council).

Reading is an avocation which should be inculcated no matter which stream of education is being pursued. A 'Book Review' competition was held to analyse any book that had been read.

Being in a fix with no way out, forces you to spin some yarns on the spur of the moment. The 'Biggest Boaster' competition was held to highlight the one with the biggest spunk for exaggeration.

In order to capture the essence of the moment, a Photography competition was held wherein the students immortalised the moment with their cameras.

The innate actor repressed in each one was brought to the fore though a competition held on Monologue.

Last but not the least, to let your hair down and reminisce about the movies watched and loved, a Bollywood Quiz was held.

The venture being nouvel, attracted a decent clique of students.
